Upon receipt of the form the Executive Officer shall cause the name stated therein to be entered in the electoral roll published under rule 10, and the persons whose name is thus entered shall be deemed to be duly authorised to vote on behalf of such company, etc., and shall be entitled to be nominated as a candidate at elections to a Board.

11. Any person whose application under rule 8 has been refused may, within seven days after such refusal, apply to the Officer Commanding the station for an order to have his name inserted in or a name omitted from the electoral roll and such Commanding Officer shall, after enquiry, make such order as to the insertion or omission of the name as appears to him to be just; and the Executive Officer shall, upon receipt of a copy of such order which shall be delivered to him by the Officer Commanding the station not less than twenty-three days before the date of election, give effect to the same and such order shall be final.

12. The electoral roll thus prepared and amended shall be deemed to be the final electoral roll of persons entitled to vote at a general election and shall remain valid for three years.

In the nomination paper the candidate will subscribe himself as assenting to his nomination, and shall in filling his nomination papers deposit with the Executive Officer a sum of Rs. 100, the failure to deposit which shall render the nomination void. The sum deposited shall be forfeited if the candidate withdraws his candidature within seven days of the date fixed for the election or if he fails to secure at the election at least ten per cent. of the votes cast.

(b) The Executive Officer shall, not less than eighteen days before the date of election, scrutinise the nomination papers after giving three days' notice of the date, place and hours fixed for the purpose by publication in the cantonment office. He shall record his decision in the form. He shall, not less than sixteen days before the day fixed for election, publish a list of candidates whose nomination papers have been found valid in the same Form B at the cantonment office, and shall, not less than seven days before the date for election, also publish a revised list of candidates in the same manner as the original list, containing all the alterations and amendments made in such original list by order of the Officer Commanding the station under rule 16. The revised list thus published shall be the final list of candidates for the election.

16. Any person who applied under rule 15 and whose name is not published in the list of candidates or who disputes the claim of any other candidate to be on the list published by the Executive Officer under rule 15 may apply to the Officer Commanding the station in writing within two days of the date of publication of the list of candidates for an order to have his name included in or any name omitted from the list, and the Officer Commanding the station shall make such order as to the insertion or omission of the name as appears to him to be just and the Executive Officer shall, upon receipt of a copy of such order which shall be delivered to him by the Officer Commanding the station not less than seven days before the date of election, give effect to the same, and such order shall be final.

V.—Manner of holding election.

17. The elections and casual elections shall be held on such dates as may be fixed by the Local Government and notified in the Calcutta Gazette.

18. In the event of the number of candidates for election in a cantonment or in any ward of it not being greater than the number of vacancies such candidates shall be deemed to be elected. If the number of candidates exceeds number of vacancies a poll shall be held.

19. The poll shall be held at such time and place as the Officer Commanding the station may determine, and the place at which and the hours between which the votes will be recorded shall be notified by beat of drum, and by the publication of notices at the same time as the list of candidates is published under rule 15.

20. After the second hour mentioned in the notice referred to in rule 19 no elector shall be admitted within the building or enclosure within which the election proceedings are being held, but the votes of all duly enrolled electors who are already within the building or enclosure shall be recorded.

21. Every elector shall be entitled to vote for the ward in which he ordinarily resides, or in which he is assessed to pay the rates in a cantonment in which there are wards and for no other.

He shall be entitled to give as many votes as there are vacancies for the ward in the Cantonment which is divided into wards and for a Cantonment which is not divided into wards he shall be entitled to give as many votes as there are vacancies.

He shall not give more than one vote to any one candidate.

22. The Officer Commanding the station shall appoint a polling officer, who is not himself a candidate for election, to preside at the election at each polling station If the polling officer for any reason fail to attend, the Officer Commanding the station shall appoint another fit and proper person who is not himself a candidate for election to take his place.

23. All votes shall be given in person and no votes shall be received by proxy or in writing.

24. On the morning of the election day the polling officer shall be supplied with a ballot box provided with an aperture for receipt of voting papers, a copy of the electoral roll, and a bound book or books of voting papers serially numbered in foil and counterfoil, one voting paper for each voter entered in the roll.

25. The voting paper shall be printed in Bengali or English or both, in Form C annexed to these rules, and shall contain the names of all the candidates arranged alphabetically in the order of their surnames.

26. (1) On the day of the election the polling officer shall admit to the polling station the candidates and such agents as may be selected by the candidates to assist in the identification of voters, provided that there shall be present at one time, in addition to the candidates, not more than one agent of each candidate.

(2) Besides candidates and their agents only voters and such persons (if any) as may be admissible under special directions given by the polling officer shall be admitted to the polling station.

27. The candidates and their agents shall not speak to or address any intending voter in the polling station, but may submit to the polling officer objections to a voter on the following three grounds:—

First—That his name is not on the electoral roll of the ward or cantonment, if there are no wards, as the case may be, in respect of which the election is being held.

Second—That his claim to be a certain voter shown on the electoral roll is false.

Third—That he has already voted.

28. The procedure for recording each voter's vote shall be as follows:—

(i) As each intending voter enters the polling station, his name and his number in the electoral roll shall be called out so that everybody present can hear them.

(ii) No objection to a voter shall be entertained except on the grounds mentioned in rule 27.

(iii) Such objection shall be summarily decided by the polling officer, who may for this purpose obtain such evidence as may be available on the spot.

(iv) If after taking such evidence the polling officer is satisfied that the voter is entitled to vote, he shall hand him the foil of a voting paper and allow him to proceed to vote.

(v) The number of the voter in the electoral roll shall be marked on the counterfoil of the voting paper.

(vi) The voter on receiving the voting paper shall forthwith proceed to the place set apart for the purpose and there mark a cross against the name of the candidate or candidates for whom he intends to vote. He shall then fold the voting paper so as to conceal his vote and shall put the voting paper, so folded up, into the ballot box. He shall vote without undue delay, and shall quit the polling station as soon as he has put the voting paper into the ballot box.

(vii) If the voter is unable to read the voting paper, or to make a cross thereon, the polling officer shall mark the vote on the voting paper according to the direction of the voter. The voter shall then put the voting paper folded up into the ballot box.

29. Immediately before the commencement of the poll the polling officer at any polling station shall show the ballot box to be used at the poll to such persons as may be present in such station, so that they may see that it is empty and he shall then lock it up and place his seal upon it in such manner as to prevent its being opened without breaking such seal, and shall keep it so locked and sealed. On the conclusion of the poll the ballot box shall be opened and the votes counted in the presence of the candidates or their agents by the polling officer and the polling officer shall then and there declare the candidate or candidates as the case may be, to whom the largest number of valid votes has been given, to be elected and report the result of the election to the Executive Officer. He shall also seal up the book of counterfoils and unused foils of voting papers and make it over to the Officer Commanding the station, who shall keep it sealed in his own custody till it is destroyed under rule 34.

30. Any voting paper which is not duly marked or on which a mark is placed in such a manner as to make it doubtful to which candidate it has been given or on which any mark is made by which the voter may afterwards be identified shall be invalid.

31. If there be an equality of votes for the same vacancy, and if the number of vacancies does not admit of all the candidates who have obtained an equal number of votes being elected, the election of one of such candidates shall be made by lot to be drawn by the polling officer in such manner as he may determine.

32. In the event of any candidate being elected for more than one ward, in a cantonment in which there are wards, he shall, within five days from the date of election, declare which ward he will represent; and if he fail to make such declaration, the Officer Commanding the station shall forthwith declare the ward which such candidate shall represent, and in either case such candidate shall be held to be elected in the ward in respect of which either of such declaration has been made, and in every other ward in which the said candidate has been returned, the result of the election shall be determined as if no votes had been recorded for him, provided that if there is no other candidates for whom votes have been recorded to fill the vacancy thus caused, a fresh election shall be held.

33. When the voting papers have been scrutinized and counted they shall forthwith be replaced in the ballot box from which they were taken, and the box, after being locked and sealed with the cantonment seal, shall be kept by the Executive Officer in safe custody.

34. On the expiry of fifteen days from the date of declaration of the result of election, the voting papers in the ballot box and the sealed book containing unused voting papers and counterfoils in the custody of the Officer Commanding the station shall be destroyed in the presence of such member of the Board or officers as the members at a meeting may appoint for this purpose.

35. The name or list of duly returned candidate or candidates, as the case may be, for the whole cantonment shall be forwarded by the Executive Officer to the District Magistrate, who will forward the same to the Local Government for publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

VI.—Disputes.

36. All disputes arising under these rules shall be decided by the Officer Commanding the station, and his decision shall be final. A breach of these rule renders a person liable to the penalty provided by section 268 of the Act. The offence of personation, of undue influence and of bribery at an election are punishable under sections 171E and 171F of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, as amended by the Indian Elections Offences and Inquiries Act, 1920 (XXXIX of 1920).

RESOLUTION—No. 1037EDN.

Calcutta, the 9th March 1937.

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur M. Azizul Haque, C.I.E.

Read—

(1) Resolution No. 2517Edn., dated the 27th July 1935, publishing a scheme of school education in Bengal for public criticism.

(2) The report of the Committee appointed to consider the curricula suitable to the needs of primary schools and maktabs and the question of religious instruction in those institutions.

1. The Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Education published Resolution No. 2517 Edn., on the 27th July, 1935, reviewing the existing educational system of the province.

While recognising that the present system has produced a large educated community which has supplied the province in increasing numbers with the necessary personnel for its administration, its learned professions, its business and industry and its social and political leadership, the Resolution, reviewing the situation fully and frankly, analysed the main defects in the system, and made it clear that it is not possible to carry out any scheme of educational improvement unless public opinion realises the unsatisfactory nature of the existing state of things and co-operates in devising plans for educational reform.

The Resolution made certain tentative proposals for the reorganisation of elementary and secondary education, and invited criticisms and suggestions from individuals and public bodies: in order to remove certain misunderstandings a memorandum was issued on the 25th of August, 1935, explaining more fully certain aspects of the proposals. The criticisms and suggestions which have been received have been fully considered by Government in the Ministry of Education and the policy and programme which should be followed in future in primary education in Bengal are outlined in the present Resolution.

2. One of the main points which have emerged from public criticisms is the impression in some quarters that the proposals of Government may lead to the shelving of the Primary Education Act of 1930. This is far from being correct. It is intended that the Act should be put into operation with as little delay as possible. Although the Act was passed in 1930, it is common knowledge that because of the acute economic distress in the country, it has not been possible to put into operation the clauses of the Act authorising the levy of the Education Cess and thereby placing an additional burden of roughly a crore and twenty lakhs of rupees on the rural population of Bengal. But since that date partial effect has been given to this Act in 12 districts* of the province where District School Boards have been established, and it is hoped that with the experience thus gained, the provisions of the Act will be more efficiently and more rapidly applied, once the cess is levied.

3. There are signs, however, that the economic depression is passing and Government can therefore prepare for the full and early introduction of the Primary Education Act throughout the province. Indeed on the application of the District School Board, Mymensingh, notifications have already been issued bringing the Primary Education Act of 1930 into operation in that district. The District Board of Tippera and the District School Board of Pabna have also applied to Government for the full introduction of the Act in those districts and the District School Board of Dinajpur has asked for the introduction of the Act in selected areas of the district. Opinions were also invited from the Union Boards of the Eastern and Northern Bengal districts enquiring whether the Education Cess should now be imposed so as to give effect to the Primary Education Act and it is interesting to note that the majority of Union Boards in six districts have answered in the affirmative. The majority of Union Boards in three other districts are in favour of imposition of a cess for primary education though they would wait for some time more. But the full introduction of the Primary Education Act necessarily involves decisions upon the number, location and distribution of schools, pay of the teaching staff, the curriculum and the relation of primary schools to secondary schools, etc., and before the Act can be given full effect to, detailed schemes and a programme of primary education must be worked out. Even if it is ultimately decided to introduce primary education by means other than what were devised in the Primary Education Act, there must be a plan and programme prepared. Government therefore formulated a tentative scheme of primary education and invited public criticisms upon it, not with the object of shelving the Primary Education Act, but so as to be ready to give effect to it as soon as there was a recovery in the normal economic life of the province. It is not likely that any proposals which are made, covering the entire range of primary education, will or can be such as to satisfy all critics—nor have Government ever claimed such perfection for their proposals that they may not require modification or change as a result of further progress or of further experience or of the improvement in the finances of the province. It is only possible now to indicate the main principles upon which it is proposed to develop a primary education scheme for the future. At the same time it should be understood and Government fully realise that in a province as large as Bengal, where local conditions vary so radically, it will probably be necessary to deviate from the normal plan to provide for the special circumstances of particular localities. The present scheme therefore is to be regarded as reasonably elastic and allowing deviations to meet special conditions. It is, of course, not intended that certain of the fundamental features, such as minimum salaries, should be discarded save under exceptional circumstances and the scheme that is here outlined may be taken as one which Government believe to be necessary and practicable for the province, and one which allows of development as the financial position of the province improves.

4. The next point of criticism is one which is due to a misunderstanding of the present position and of the plans which have been proposed. This criticism is to the effect that the Government proposals involve a diminution of primary education facilities. This is not the case. The previous Government scheme proposed that there should be upper primary schools in 16,000 of the larger villages with 32,000 feeder schools of the lower primary type in neighbouring smaller villages. The schools which Government proposed to establish were to accommodate 110 pupils in the upper primary schools and 50 pupils in the lower primary ones, thus providing primary education for about 36 lakhs of pupils, in place of the present number of about 20 lakhs. The plan therefore contemplated providing considerably better facilities than those existing to-day. It is essential that the public should realise the existing conditions of primary education in Bengal. The only fact that seems to have been noticed by these critics is that there are approximately 64,000 primary schools in the province. They assume that these primary schools are doing work of value and are helping to remove illiteracy and their estimate is made merely in terms of the number of schools. Such an estimate is of little value. The fact is that although there are about 64,000 primary schools, most of them are ineffective and contribute little towards the removal of illiteracy. Of these primary schools, only 9,853 are of the upper primary standard, and over 54,000 are of the lower primary standard. A lower primary school has an average of 32 pupils distributed as follows:—

Infant Class	...	21
Class I	...	6·5
Class II	...	4·5

The figures show that very few of the pupils attending a lower primary school do so for more than one year. The teaching in these schools is neither good nor sufficiently prolonged to ensure literacy. A lower primary school is thus contributing practically nothing towards the solution of the problem of primary education. Its only value is to the four or five children who after leaving Class II go up for further education to an upper primary or a secondary school. But even in the case of the 9,853 upper primary schools there is an enormous wastage as is shown by the following pupil distribution:—

Infant Class	...	21
Class I	...	6·5
Class II	...	4·5
Class III	...	2
Class IV	...	1·5

It is generally and correctly assumed that in the present condition of primary education, literacy can only be assured to a pupil who has passed through Class IV and it therefore follows that only 1·5 out of 21 or about 7 per cent. of the pupils receive any material benefit from primary education. It appears from the Census Report that from 1921 to 1931, although in these ten years the number of primary schools for boys increased by 8,000, there has been no increase in the percentage of male literacy. It merely stands stationary at 18·1 per cent. The Census figures show that approximately 1,00,000 male literates die every year and the same number annually join Class V of secondary schools. If the literacy attained by this number of pupils is due to their joining Class V of secondary schools and the total percentage of literacy in Bengal is stationary, it follows that boys who do not pursue their education beyond Classes I-IV are not achieving any literacy at all. The contribution of the primary school towards literacy is therefore practically nil. The actual position is that apart from a few primary schools controlled by local authorities, mission schools and the primary classes of secondary schools, the primary school organisation of to-day is of very doubtful value. Far from there being 64,000 useful primary schools in the province, it is safe to say that the number of schools which are effectively contributing towards the removal of illiteracy is not more than 5,000 at a generous estimate. Government's intention, therefore, is to multiply and not restrict facilities for primary education. They desire to see every child throughout the province given an education which will make him literate, and their plans are so modelled as to try to guarantee those facilities as extensively as possible. Government's scheme in the main falls under three heads:—

(1) A distribution of schools throughout the province which will place educational facilities within reasonable reach of every child.

(2) The prevention of the present wastage by ensuring that as far as possible children shall attend primary schools for a minimum period of four years and shall not leave before the end of that period.

(3) The provision of a well-trained and reasonably well-paid body of teachers who will regard primary school teaching as their vocation.

These three aspects will now be discussed.

(1) Distribution of schools.

There are approximately 64,000 primary schools, of which 9,853 are of the upper primary standard. These 9,853 schools are located in 8,500 villages. The remaining 54,347 lower primary schools are located in 28,631 villages. There are approximately one lakh of villages in Bengal (90,000 according to the census and 1,10,000 according to a recent educational survey). It follows, therefore, that there are nearly 70,000 villages in the province without a school of even the lower primary standard and there are only 8,500 villages with upper primary schools, i.e., with schools which, if well staffed and well attended up to the end of Class IV would help to remove illiteracy.

The scheme previously set out by Government contemplated a system of central and feeder schools, but there has been considerable criticism of the feeder system and Government after consideration of these objections agree that it is probably not satisfactory to have the same staff of teachers working in both a feeder and a central school. They admit that it is not reasonable to expect a man to work for several hours in one school, walk a mile or two to another school and then give a further period of service. Such a system would probably lead to very considerable difficulties owing to the occasional absence of teachers and also their inability at certain seasons of the year to go from place to place. Government have therefore abandoned the proposal of central-cum-feeder schools.

In framing any future programme of the distribution of schools it has to be recognised that it is not at present financially possible to provide fully-staffed primary schools in every village or to ensure the existence of primary schools in each of the 90,000 villages. It is, therefore, proposed to establish primary schools up to the upper primary standard in every "unit of school area" and so located that no child may be required to walk more than one mile. Ordinarily each such school will have three teachers, although in more sparsely populated areas there may be only one or two teachers in schools teaching the full primary course. Again, it will obviously not be possible even in a single district immediately to establish all the schools under the new system, nor is it probably desirable to do away with any great number of the existing schools all at once. A lengthy period of transition is inevitable; in any case, as a preliminary to the reorganisation and redistribution of schools prior to the establishment of new schools or the replacement of the old ones, a careful survey will be needed to ascertain the nature of the existing schools and the location of the schools of the new type.

(2) Wastage.

From the point of view of removing illiteracy and of giving a satisfactory basic education to young boys and girls, the present system fails chiefly because of the very large wastage which takes place. As mentioned above, only a very small percentage of the boys and girls who attend primary schools ever reach a stage where what they have learned is of permanent value to them. It is this fact which makes the number of schools and the number of children attending the schools valueless as an indication of the educational merits of the existing system. If this wastage continues, no scheme will be satisfactory or can be successful. This wastage has been mainly due to two causes:—

(i) the unsatisfactory nature of the teaching provided; and

(ii) the lack of appreciation of the value of education and the unwillingness of parents to allow their children to attend schools when, by working in the fields or at home, they can be of some economic value to them.

The first of these causes can be eliminated only by providing satisfied and efficient teachers and reasonably good schools: this it is hoped to do under the scheme now proposed: the second only by a change in public opinion and the gradual introduction of compulsion. The history of primary education throughout the world proves the necessity for compulsion, and it is certain that effective compulsion in Bengal will have to be introduced if the wastage is to be materially reduced. Until the average villager is educated to the stage of himself realising the value of education, it is not likely that he will of his own accord be prepared to send his children regularly to school for the period required to ensure the attainment of literacy.

(3) The teacher.

The unsatisfactory nature of the teaching provided is one of the reasons for the failure of the present system of primary education. In Bengal as elsewhere success in the school depends mainly upon the teacher. Owing to the rural nature of the country and the fact that schools can, of necessity, only be inspected at infrequent intervals and also owing to the non-existence of real local opinion compelling the maintenance of a high standard of work, it is absolutely essential that the teachers who are to be responsible for primary education should regard their work as a life's vocation, should be reasonably well satisfied and should be efficiently trained for their duties. The present position is deplorable. The total expenditure upon the 64,000 primary schools is approximately Rs. 80,00,000. The total number of teachers engaged in primary schools is 88,000. It works out as an average of Rs. 7-8 per month per teacher. But this sum includes the teachers' income from fees and other sources. The only assured income which a primary school teacher receives is what is paid from public funds—Government, District Board and Municipality—a total sum of Rs. 46,75,769, i.e., an average of about Rs. 4-8 per month. But the salaries drawn by teachers in municipal areas and in Board primary schools are higher than the emoluments of the average teacher in an aided rural school. The average grant received by a primary school teacher in rural areas from public funds works out at only about Rs. 3-8 per month, or an average of Rs. 41 per annum per teacher. It is said that he receives in addition a sum of Rs. 3 per month from fees and other sources, but whether this is actually received or not is doubted by all who are familiar with the state of affairs in village schools. But even assuming that the full amounts are available for him his total emoluments are—

Rs. 3-8 from public funds; and
Rs. 3 from fees and other resources, or
Rs. 6-8 altogether per month.

Naturally it is not possible to get either a well-qualified or a contented teacher on this small amount.

The large majority of pupils who enter the guru training schools to be trained as teachers have been educated up to Class VIII or IX in a high school. There cannot be any satisfactory solution of the problem of primary education which does not provide for better qualified teachers. Unfortunately, the present economic situation in Bengal and the magnitude of the task which has to be faced do not permit the initiation of any scheme which would be entirely satisfactory from this point of view. Nevertheless, an attempt must be made to ensure that our primary school teachers are not only better paid but better qualified for their work. It is proposed that the newly trained teachers to be employed in primary schools shall in future be matriculates and shall be trained in one of the present new type guru training schools or have undergone a new type of training which it is proposed to initiate. This new type of training will be a continuation course following Matriculation, and it should be possible to develop certain high schools as special training institutions for these teachers.

But it is not possible to expect any radical betterment in the conditions of primary education, unless the teachers trained and qualified under the newly proposed scheme receive a reasonable wage, and the following scale of salaries cannot in any way be considered extravagant for the purpose:—

Head Master, Rs. 25—½—30.

Other teachers, Rs. 20—½—25.

This would, however, mean an immediate annual expenditure of over 2½ crores of rupees on salaries alone, even if Bengal is to have only 20,000 schools. Salaries however constitute only one item of expenditure in the total bill for primary education. There are also the capital and recurring cost for buildings, inspection charges, expenditure for the training of teachers, maintenance cost of School Boards and other incidental expenses. It is certain that Bengal at the moment cannot afford to incur expenditure on this scale: it is equally certain that to defer action until the province can afford to spend such an amount would be fatal. On a very careful consideration of these facts, it has therefore been decided that efforts must be made to employ annually only a certain number of specially trained teachers on the above scale and with more finance available, the aim should be to adopt the above scale of salary for all trained teachers. As the scheme of reorganisation for the primary school inspectorate provides for the appointment of a certain number of headmasters as primary school inspectors, it is hoped that these scales will be attractive enough to make primary school teaching a definite vocation. If this anticipation is fulfilled, the scheme will ensure the supply of a number of well-trained teachers devoted to their task and capable of carrying out the ideals of primary education.

For the time being, however, the salaries of primary teachers will have to be more in keeping with the money available for the purpose, and it is suggested that the following should be laid down as minimum salaries for trained teachers in Bengal:—

	Rs.
Trained headmaster	... 16
Trained teacher	... 12

If such a school is worked with a staff of three teachers, for Bengal cannot afford to have one teacher for each class, the average annual expenditure per school will be as follows:—

	Rs. Per annum.
Headmaster	... 192
Two other teachers	... 288
Contingencies	... 60
Total	... 540

Curriculum.

5. In their Resolution of July 1935 the Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Education outlined the importance of and the need for a reorientation of the primary curriculum. It is now admitted on all sides that the primary education curriculum must provide for effective literacy in the vernacular, simple calculations and the basic academic and physical training, and that school work in general should be adapted in the main to the needs and environment of the majority of the children. It should also provide for a grounding in the rudiments of general knowledge. A Primary Curriculum Committee were appointed in July last and the report of that committee has now been very carefully considered by Government. The recommendations of the committee may be summarised as follows:—

(1) Though a 5 years' course is educationally very desirable, the committee recommended the adoption of a 4 years' course in view of the difficulty of financing a scheme involving a 5 years' course.

(2) Religious instruction should be provided in the curricula of primary schools.

(3) The following subjects should be compulsorily taught in every primary school:—

Examination subjects.	Non-examination subjects.
(1) Vernacular Reading and Writing.	(1) Games and Physical Exercises.
(2) Arithmetic.	(2) Handwork.
(3) Geography and Rural Civics.	(3) Religious Instruction.
(4) Elements of Science.

(4) There should be a departmental public examination at the end of the primary final course and scholarships should be awarded on the results of this examination.

(5) English should not ordinarily be taught in primary schools or in the primary departments of secondary schools, but schools may be allowed to teach this subject on their satisfying certain conditions: when taken up, English should be treated as an examination subject, but the marks should not be taken into account in the award of scholarships.

The committee also prepared detailed syllabuses for the different subjects and their report including their recommendations and syllabuses is published as an annexure to this Resolution. It will be seen from this report that the syllabuses were drawn up by special sub-committees and were very carefully considered by the Primary Curriculum Committee and the Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Education are in substantial agreement with their recommendations.

There is no aspect of primary education teaching which has been or is more contentious than that of religious education, but it must also be conceded that there is a large volume of opinion which is in favour of the inclusion of some form of religious and moral instruction in the curriculum. In accepting the recommendations of the Primary Curriculum Committee relating to the inclusion of religious education in the primary curriculum, Government have been guided by the provisions of the Primary Education Act of 1930 which has the sanction of the Legislature. In accordance with the provisions of the Primary Education Act, it will be left entirely to the guardians of pupils to decide whether their pupils should be given religious instruction in schools or not.

In accepting the recommendations of the committee that the duration of the primary course should be 4 years, Government have been mainly guided by considerations of finance, but at the same time they believe that if a primary school is staffed by 3 teachers and there is an organised system of teaching, much more effective literacy could be achieved in 4 years than is possible in the present 5 years' course. The period of study in any stage for an average boy should not be prolonged, and if it is possible to do it in the course of 4 years, there is no reason why a genuine attempt should not be made on this basis. It should also be realised that in order to appear at the Matriculation Examination an average boy or girl will thus in the future have 4 years in the primary stage and 6 years in the middle and upper stages—a total period of 10 years, which should ordinarily be sufficient for an average boy to pass the Matriculation Examination.

Government also agree with the recommendations of the committee that English should not ordinarily be taught in primary schools nor in the primary departments of secondary schools, but that option may be given to some schools to teach English on their satisfying certain conditions and the subject when taken up should be treated as an examination subject.

While accepting the recommendations of the Primary Curriculum Committee, Government only wish to add that "Work in farms or in the school garden" should be an alternative subject with "Handwork." Such work will encourage the Bengal village child to take an interest in his surroundings and will do much to fit him for those pursuits which in most cases will be his life work. In order that the school child may not be detached from his surroundings and may retain an interest in the work that will ultimately devolve upon him, Government believe that it is desirable to have this subject as alternative with handwork so that the average village child may be trained in his school in consonance with the atmosphere and the ideas which are a part of his own back-ground.

The Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Education only wish to emphasise that in giving effect to the recommendations of the Curriculum Committee, the teachers as also the inspecting officers shall all realise that teaching work in schools—particularly of little children—should be so organised and done as to result in a happy buoyant school. The age of the child and the psychology of the child mind necessitate that even though in some of the classes text-books and a syllabus have been prescribed, the instruction in different subjects should not be centred on so many pages of the text and teaching should not succumb to the worship of text-books—a danger of school education both in India and in other countries. There is no doubt that even though text-books have been prescribed for primary classes, they can be and should be dispensed with, if the teacher has the gift of making the children work on their own account and can himself evolve simple methods and problems without any extraneous aid. The ideals should be constantly kept in view before the teachers, that education involves primarily the relationship between the child and the teacher, and text-books and other things serve only a subsidiary purpose specially in the case of young children.

In connection with the distribution of class work, particularly in class I, it will be desirable for the teacher to employ usefully the hours of work between what may be called the "sitting occupations" and "occupations involving bodily activity." Instead of keeping a child engaged in class work for three or four long periods at a stretch it should be the aim that he gets as much spontaneous movement as possible. Apart from the periods specifically provided for games, the child should therefore have other opportunities of stretching his limbs. This can easily be effected if the teachers and others realise that where a suitable playground or some other space is available there are great advantages to the child in arranging a five-minute period of free activity between the periodical lessons in the class room. It takes a little time from the formal lessons, but there is a corresponding gain in responsiveness; the simple discipline required from children when they have to get up quietly from their class room and walk quietly into a playground and back again after a few spontaneous movements—that is also a part of the proper training for young children, useful and effective in the formation of the child mind in his after life.

Programme of schools.

6. In a scheme involving a primary course of 4 years' duration, primary schools must provide education for about 30 lakhs of boys and 26 lakhs of girls between the ages of 6 and 10 years. Even where education, however, is compulsory, not every boy or girl can attend a school and at the inception it is proposed to apply compulsion only in the case of boys. It is calculated that if provision is made for the education of 80 per cent. of the 30 lakhs of boys and 40 per cent. of the 26 lakhs of girls a satisfactory beginning will have been made. For 24 lakhs of boys and 10 lakhs of girls it is estimated that 25,000 3-teacher schools each with about 135 pupils will be needed. Were the population uniformly distributed, the locating of such schools would be easy, but there are congested areas and sparsely populated areas, and after a rough survey of the existing conditions, Government are of opinion that the province will be reasonably well served by the provision of 12,000 3-teacher schools, 12,000 two-teacher schools, and 15,000 one-teacher schools, making a total of 39,000 schools with 75,000 teachers. Until, however, a more exact survey is made district by district and special geographical features are considered, this figure must be considered as only approximate.

The area of a school unit upon which the foregoing calculations have been made is that of a circle of one mile radius or about 3·14 square miles and where the population in such an area is about the normal figure of 2,000, there should be one 3-teacher school. If the incidence of population is less, one two-teacher school or even one-teacher school will have to suffice; but ordinarily if there be one one-teacher school it should not have more than 45 pupils and a two-teacher school more than 90.

7. In preparing this outline of primary education and fixing a school unit, it is not the intention of Government that even where there is necessity for more schools, such should not be organised. Nor is it intended that there should be any bar to private enterprise or initiative to start more schools within a school unit provided that the local authorities are satisfied that the need for such schools exists. On the other hand, Government hope and trust that private initiative, enterprise and effort will be more and more mobilised in the future in providing schools for the villages. But instead of the present system under which there are many localities without provision for school education and under which the majority of the existing schools are run by a single teacher, there should be at least one well-organised school within the easy reach of all.

8. The Primary Education Act was passed in 1930 and so long as that Act stands and is not replaced by another, the principles behind that Act must be the main guiding factors in promulgating any scheme for primary education in the rural areas of Bengal. It will be the District School Boards constituted under the provisions of the above Act which will have to work out in their respective districts a detailed plan and programme of primary education and the brunt of the work will ultimately fall on them. Government trust that these Boards will approach this problem with the conviction that the future of this province in every sphere of activity depends on primary education and that responsible democratic Government in its true essence is impossible of realisation until every citizen attains literacy. The difficulties are great and there must inevitably be differences of opinion as regards the precise details of a new scheme, but progress will be impossible if such disagreement only leads to refusal to take action or give help and thereby allows the continuance of the existing unsatisfactory system. It is hoped, therefore, that everybody will cooperate to the fullest to make the scheme a success and leave experience and the future to bring about such further changes as may be necessary.

9. The first essential for the implementing of the Primary Education Act is for the District and Union Boards to make it clear to Government that they are in favour of the imposition of the cess and the introduction of the Act. This step has already been taken in several districts and a beginning is being made with Mymensingh. In each district a programme of primary schools should be prepared and all steps taken to frame a scheme of reorganisation of the primary schools to achieve ultimately the introduction of compulsory and free primary education.

The conclusions which the Government of Bengal in the Ministry of Education have arrived at are enumerated in an annexure to this Resolution.

10. For the time being these observations and conclusions in the annexure are for the guidance of the District School Board of Mymensingh and of those other districts where a primary education cess may be imposed in the near future. If in the meantime the other District School Boards and District Boards where School Boards have not yet been constituted also take up the work of framing a programme of primary schools with their possible locations, the number of teachers required and other details on these lines, the valuable experience thus gained will be extremely helpful to the Government of the future in making such modifications and changes as may be necessary. Government also hope that it will be possible for these District Boards and District School Boards, as far as their financial condition permits, to give effect to some of the recommendations and to keep all of them in view pending the introduction of the education cess or until financial conditions permit them to make the fullest provision for free and compulsory primary education in Bengal.

Order—Ordered that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that copies be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, the Accountant-General, Bengal, the Commissioners of Divisions, Chairmen of District Boards and the Presidents of District School Boards for information and guidance.

By order of the Govt. of Bengal

(Ministry of Education),

T. M. DOW,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal (offg.).

ANNEXURE I.

Survey and programme.

For every district, the District School Board shall make a survey of the location and standard of the existing primary schools and shall frame a scheme of suitably located and properly distributed primary schools within the local area.

Unit school area.

Subject to local adjustments and special considerations, particularly in areas with special geographical features, every district should be divided into a suitable number of school units ordinarily on the basis of an average population of 2,000 or alternatively an area not exceeding 3·14 square miles.*

Organisation.

(i) Every School Board shall organise one primary school in each unit of school area and for this purpose the existing schools including maktabs and special girls' schools may, wherever possible, be utilised for development.

(ii) The School Board shall either themselves organise such schools or, without prejudice to the main features of the scheme, encourage private and local efforts in the establishment of such schools.

(iii) Every School Board shall be competent to arrange for more than one school in a unit of school area if in their opinion one school does not adequately serve the unit. For this purpose such local authority will be competent to recognise primary schools started through private enterprise so long as such schools satisfy the general outline of the scheme and to give such financial assistance as it may decide.

(iv) The School Boards shall also be competent to recognise other primary schools within a school unit organised and maintained through private enterprise, as long as such schools satisfy the general outline of the scheme and do not require any financial assistance from any public fund.

(v) In organisation of primary schools, primary classes of middle and high schools and of junior and high madrasahs may be taken as primary schools and subject to the main feature of the scheme, it shall be open to the School Board to recognise them as primary schools and to give a grant-in-aid it and where necessary.

Duration of primary course.

A primary school shall consist of four classes, and for this purpose, the classes shall be known as Class I, II, III, IV. Primary education shall thus ordinarily last for 4 years. Normally, all children at the end of 4 years of primary education should be so equipped that if they wish to go higher, they may be able to finish the Matriculation Standard at the end of another six years.

Staff.

Each school should ordinarily have three teachers—one headmaster and two assistant teachers; at least two of these three teachers shall be trained teachers.

*If a school is situated in the centre of an area of 3·14 square miles, the maximum distance that a child will have to cover will be only a mile.

Pay of teachers.

(1) Every School Board shall pay the teachers the following minimum salary, provided that the local authority may fix any higher salary that they may decide in individual cases or generally:—

	Per mensem. Rs.
Headmaster (who shall be a trained teacher)	16
A trained assistant teacher ...	12
An untrained assistant teacher ...	10

Any School Board at their option may fix a graded scale of pay for the teachers.

(2) Every School Board shall, as far as financially possible, appoint a certain number of teachers specially trained under the new scheme and such trained teachers shall receive the following scale of salaries:—

	Rs.
Headmaster ...	25—½—30
Assistant teacher .	20 —½—25

Roll strength.

The average roll strength of a school shall not ordinarily exceed 135, distributed approximately as follows:—

Class I	40
Class II	35
Class III	30
Class IV ...	30
Total ...	135

If the roll strength goes substantially beyond this figure, an additional teacher shall be appointed for every 40 additional pupils.

Name.

It shall be open to School Boards or to a school committee to name a school as they like, so long as the general principles outlined in the scheme are followed.

Curriculum.

(1) There shall be the same general curricula for primary schools and maktabs and no essential difference in the standard of secular education in these two classes of schools.

(2) The primary curricula shall be as follows:—

(a) Vernacular Reading and Writing.
(b) Arithmetic.
(c) Geography and Rural Civics.
(d) Elements of Science.
(e) Games and Physical Exercises.
(f) Handwork or Gardening.
(g) Religious Instruction.

(3) The following shall be the daily duration of school hours for the above subjects:—

Class I ...	2 hours 30 minutes.
Class II ...	3 hours 10 minutes.
Class III ...	3 hours 10 minutes.
Class IV ...	3 hours 10 minutes.

The following additional period shall be daily arranged for purposes of sports, recreational and extra-curricula activities, amusements, gardening, etc.—

Class I	...	1 hour.
Class II	...	1 hour.
Class III	...	1 hour.
Class IV	...	1 hour.

School garden or farm.

To create an interest for the child in agricultural work and in his natural and social environments and to develop a taste for manual labour attempts should be made to attach a farm or school garden to primary schools.

Religious education.

Provision shall, so far as possible, be made in every primary school for religious instruction during school hours of every child attending the school in the religion of the guardian of such child, provided that at the request in writing of the guardian of any child, such child shall be exempted from religious instruction.

Holidays.

Every School Board shall arrange holidays in primary schools in such a manner as to be suitable to local and seasonal needs, but the total number of holidays excluding Sundays shall not exceed 75 days; the Director of Public Instruction may, from time to time, issue instructions relating to holidays.

Compulsion.

Steps should be taken to introduce free and compulsory education for boys in conformity with the provisions of the Primary Education Act. There will be no compulsion for girls at the beginning, but it will be left to local option to demand compulsion for girls.

Fees in primary schools.

If a School Board in any district before the levy of the Primary Education Cess desires to levy fees in any primary school, such fees should not exceed two annas per month in any class, and children who are very poor, should invariably be exempted from payment.

Separate schools for girls.

Where the number of pupils justifies, there may be separate schools for boys and for girls, but otherwise all primary schools will be open to both boys and girls. No girl will, however, be compelled to attend any boys' school.

Honorary Inspectors.

The Director may from time to time appoint Honorary Inspectors of Primary Education with authority to inspect such schools in such areas as the Director may decide in this behalf.

School Committee.

Every school unit shall have a school committee appointed by the local authority to manage the affairs of the school or schools within the unit.

(11), (12), (13), (14) and (15) Five non-officials interested in primary education.

Optional teaching.

It shall be open to any primary institution to introduce other special features which may be suitably arranged through local and private efforts, such as the teaching of elementary English, Quoran classes, classes for teaching Hindu or Christian scriptures, etc., or any other subject of local interest, provided that all schools teaching such subjects in primary classes shall satisfy conditions to be prescribed by the Director of Public Instruction.

Primary Final Examination.

A departmental public examination shall be held at the end of the four years of the primary course: this examination shall be open to boys and girls and shall be held in the following subjects:—

(1) Mr. S. N. Mallik, C.I.E.—President.
(2) Dr. D. M. Sen.
(3) Mr. A. N. Basu.
(4) Rai Bahadur A. C. Banerjee.

(16) Khan Bahadur T. Ahmed—Secretary.

The first meeting of the Committee was to have been held on the 7th April 1936, but owing to the indisposition of the Chairman it had to be postponed. Subsequently, to the deep regret of the members of the Committee, the Chairman Mr. S. N. Mallik, C.I.E., died and the Government in their No. 461 T.—Edn., dated the 22nd May 1936, appointed Dr. N. N. Law as Chairman of the Committee. Before the Committee met, Dr. P. C. Lal of Sriniketan, Visva-Bharati, Bolpur, resigned. The Government did not fill up the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. P. C. Lal. The Committee met altogether twelve times. Mr. Abul Hossain fell ill after the first two meetings of the Committee and could not attend any other sitting of the Committee owing to illness.

The first meeting of the Committee was held on the 17th August 1936. The following agenda had been issued:—

Agenda.

(1) Preliminary observations of the Hon'ble Minister for Education.
(2) Procedure to be followed.
(3) Number of years over which the course of primary education is to be extended.
(4) Subjects to be taught in primary schools. Should there be compulsory and optional subjects?
(5) Should there be any differentiation between the curriculum for boys and that for girls' schools? If so, what?
(6) Should there be any differentiation between the curriculum for rural schools and that for urban schools? If so, what?
(7) What should be the content of knowledge in each subject to attain permanent literacy on the completion of the primary stage?
(8) Should primary education be linked or correlated with secondary education or should it be self-contained?
(9) The problem of religious instruction in primary schools.
(10) What will be the suitable school hours for school in rural areas and what holidays should be fixed for such schools?
(11) What should be the amount of time to be allotted to each subject?
(12) Should there be any teachers' hand-book giving directions for teaching the different subjects of study in the primary curriculum?
(13) Examinations—Public and Scholarship.

The Hon'ble Minister in charge of Education opened the first meeting and briefly explained the reasons which led Government to appoint the Committee. The Government Resolution of July 1935 indicated the lines on which improvement was possible, and as there was a likelihood of the education cess being imposed in the district of Mymensingh and some other districts of the province, this Committee was appointed by Government to help them with their recommendations in respect of the curriculum. The present finances of the Government of Bengal were not very prosperous, but in the event of some additional money being available for primary education in the future, it would be necessary that Government should have some scheme to spend money upon.

The Committee first considered the question of procedure and decided to take up the items of the agenda not in the order in which they appeared in the agenda paper, but according to the allied nature of the subjects. It was also decided by the Committee that instead of calling witnesses or sending out a questionnaire, it would be desirable to invite experts to advise the Committee or the Sub-Committees that are appointed, whenever necessity arose. It was also decided that the primary school course should be complete in itself, but at the same time it should have scope for those who wanted to proceed to higher studies. The Committee decided at an early stage that the primary school course should extend over a period of 5 years and on that assumption the detailed syllabuses were drawn up. At a later stage, however, the difficulties of financing a scheme of a 5 years' primary course were discussed fully and with a view to avoid financial difficulties the Committee, though feeling that a 5 years' course was educationally very desirable, resolved to adopt a 4 years' course.

The question of the inclusion of History in the primary course evoked long discussions in the Committee, and it was ultimately decided at the instance of the President that the subject would be treated mainly in the form of historical tales and pages not exceeding one-third of the total number of pages of the Vernacular Reader, in the top two classes, should be devoted to such tales.

As regards teaching of English in primary schools, the Committee were of opinion that English should not be taught in primary schools or in primary departments of secondary schools (high and middle). If, however, Government do not agree to abolish the teaching of English in the primary department of secondary schools, it should be taught as an additional subject in the top two classes of primary schools. It was, however, felt that the teaching of English in primary schools could only be allowed in those schools where qualified teachers were available. It would also be necessary to reduce the number of periods devoted to some of the other subjects to find time for the teaching of English in those schools which elected to have it.

In respect of religious instruction, there was general agreement that religious instruction should be provided in the curricula for primary schools. Mr. A. N. Basu and Dr. D. M. Sen, however, were personally opposed to the provision of any religious instructions in primary schools, and the Committee allowed Mr. Basu to submit a note of dissent on the subject.

The Committee did not feel it necessary to make any differentiation between the curricula for boys' and girls' schools, respectively, nor was it necessary, according to them, to make any distinction between the rural and urban schools so far as primary curricula were concerned. The Committee appointed the following Sub-Committees for the drawing up of the detailed syllabuses:—

In respect of religious instruction for Moslems, Khan Bahadur T. Ahmed objected to the inclusion of writing in the syllabus, but the Committee decided to retain it in the syllabus.

Syllabuses drawn up by the different Sub-Committees were considered by the Committee and after modifications, where necessary, they were approved in the form shown in the Appendix.

(G) The department should prescribe the school sessions (including the working hours and number of holidays), keeping in view the local requirements and conditions and also the sowing and harvesting seasons in a district.

(H) Necessary steps should be taken by Government as early as possible after the introduction of the new syllabus in the province to invite authors and publishers to write and publish suitable handbooks containing suggestions to teachers of primary schools in Bengal for teaching the different subjects of study in the curriculum. When such handbooks are published and approved by the department, attention of teachers of primary schools should be drawn to the publications through District School Boards and the Inspecting Agency.

Note of dissent on the question of religious instruction in primary schools.

In the matter of religious instruction my views are opposed to those expressed in the main body of the report and shared by my colleagues on the Committee. At the outset I should like to say that I am not opposed to religion. Religion occupies or should occupy the central place in our life. But at the same time I hold that religion is primarily a matter of personal belief, and it should be allowed to remain so. To confuse religion with the church and to claim for it a secular organisation of the type of the State have been among others two of the chief sources of evil perpetrated in the name of religion. Furthermore, I hold that the State representing as it does or should do the various interests of diverse types of people composing it should take a neutral view in the matter of religion and all State institutions including educational institutions should be secular in character. The education the State should provide should also be secular. As the State gives freedom in the matter of religious opinion, similarly the State should see that no indoctrination is allowed specially in the matter of personal religious beliefs in its institutions. I therefore strongly dissociate myself from my colleagues when they recommend the introduction of religious instruction in our primary schools.

Then again I hold that religion is to be caught and that it cannot be taught. Can we teach religion in the way we are thinking of by introducing it as another subject like Arithmetic or Geography on the curriculum? I hold we cannot. In this connection the following quotation from Tagore may be of interest: "Religion is not a fractional thing that can be doled out in fixed weekly or daily measures as one among various subjects in the school syllabus. It is the truth of our complete being, the consciousness of our personal relationship with the infinite; it is the true centre of gravity of our life. This we can attain during our childhood by living in a place where the truth of the spiritual world is not obscured by a crowd of necessities assuming artificial importance, where life is simple, surrounded by fulness of leisure, by ample space and pure aim and profound peace of the nature; where men live with a perfect faith in the eternal life before them."

No one, I hope, will hold that our primary schools are or are going to be in any near future the places of the type envisaged by Tagore. The atmosphere that prevails there is anything but helpful for the development of the true religious spirit in our children. I am also reminded of the words of Carlyle where he says: "Can dronings of articles, repetition of liturgies.....bring ethereal fire into human soul, quicken it out of earth by darkness into heavenly wisdom? Soul is kindled only by soul. To teach religion the first thing needful, and also the last and the only thing, is finding of a man who has religion." Carlyle, I believe, puts the whole problem in a nut-shell. Unless we can get hold of competent men worthy of the great task it will be futile, nay it will be calamitous to impart religious instruction. We all know of what calibre our primary school teachers are, and we cannot expect any change for the better in the near future. In their hands the religious instruction will become a travesty of religion—it will lead to dissension and disharmony. Then again there is every possibility of creating contrariant attitude in our pupils through bad methods of religious instruction and through efforts of indoctrination which is bound to accompany such instruction. This evil cannot be ignored. In fact, I feel that by imparting religious instruction we shall be defeating our purpose; instead of making our pupils religious we shall end by making them irreligious; they will hate religion and shun it. No religious instruction is certainly better than bad religious instruction.

Then again granting for a moment that in spite of the dangers mentioned above, we should introduce some sort of religious instruction in our schools, what is the religion that should be taught? My colleagues have prepared a scheme for Muhammadan religious instruction which they hold would meet the demands of that community. Similarly, they have prepared a syllabus for Hindu religious instruction. The assumption seems to be that every religious group should have its own syllabus of religious instruction. Now suppose several groups are represented in a school community. Can we make provision for all the different communities? Are not some minority communities in the danger of being neglected? The people of Bengal have so many different religions; they are divided into so many different sects that there is every danger of our not providing for one or the other of such sects. There can apparently be no greatest common measure in the matter of religious instruction. If it were so, my colleagues would have recommended a single syllabus, but they have not done so. And even if among the Hindus any such greatest common measure is found, such measure is apt to be like the chemical properties of hydrogen—tasteless, colourless and odourless, in a word absolutely ineffective. Of course, it may be argued that in their essence all religions are the same. But this is only true of religions in their philosophical aspects. The theologies differ, and it is the warring theologies which create dissension. We have seen enough of sectarian and religious conflicts in this country. Let us not recommend any measure which will add to the already existing dissension.

Shall then our children go altogether without the inspiring influence of religion? I hold that they need not, provided we are ready to make some sacrifice and take some pains. Let us, every parent and guardian, divide and share the task of educating the youth of the nation with the schools. Let us not shift the entire responsibility to the schools. If we believe in religious instruction let us, every parent and guardian, come forward and say, because the problem of religious instruction in schools bristles with so many difficulties we shall, in our homes, give that instruction, we shall individually take charge of it. Are we not sometimes demanding too much from our schools? Why in the matter of educating the children the home should entirely abdicate its rights and avoid its duties in favour of the schools, and why should the school arrogate to itself all the functions and duties of the home? The modern ideal of education desires a closer co-operation between the home and the school and nowhere does it advocate the supplanting of the former by the latter. When we think that the school should do everything for the child, do we not thereby give schools a far more prominent place than what belongs to them legitimately? In the matter of religious instruction, therefore, the home should divide the responsibility with the school, thereby creating a deeper and closer union of the two great institutions of humanity. And who can doubt that the loving initiation by the parents in spiritual life will be a thousand times more potent than any religious instruction that we may give in our schools. It is thus alone that the problem of religious instruction may be satisfactorily solved, and we can avoid the conflict of sectarianism and differing religions and also pave the way to positive national unity—the greatest need of the country to-day. Even if the homes refuse to co-operate, I recommend that no religious instruction should be provided in our primary schools.

Syllabus of Physical Training for Primary Schools, Bengal.

CLASS I.

In arranging a syllabus for this, age, ability and characteristics of children must be carefully studied. Children are individualists and during the early years they must be permitted to develop along these lines. Some method of physical training is essential even from the early stages. This does not mean, however, that there should be formality and great precision. Infant work should be extremely informal. As much freedom of movement as possible should be permitted. Exact positions and stereotyped exercises are to be avoided. It must always be remembered that children should play. Infant lessons should be designed on this knowledge. The body must be kept flexible and those exercises which require free expenditure of energy should be chosen.

Children have vivid imaginations. These should be used and developed by choosing imaginative exercises. Let the children pretend to be birds, animals, trains, etc.

Since children are not able to concentrate for long periods at a time and as their physical training lessons are characterised by great activity, the lesson period should be short—20-30 minutes is the correct length.

The curriculum should include:—

(1) Running.—This should be free. Children should be allowed to run to their own rhythm. No outside rhythm should be imposed upon them. Various methods may be used; free running all over the room; running on toes; running with long steps; high steps, on tip-toe very quietly, etc. Playing trains, motor cars, aeroplanes, etc.

(2) Jumping and leaping.—This includes free skipping, jumping over low ropes, jumping into hoops or circles marked with chalk, jumping marked lines on the floor; the imitation of animals and birds, e.g., hopping like crows, jumping like kangaroos, leaping like squirrels, etc.

(3) Trunk exercises.—In this group movements in which the child bends down towards the floor and returns to an erect position are used, e.g., cross-leg sitting, putting the head on the floor, standing putting the head on the knee or trying to see the person behind by looking through the legs, alternatively being giants and dwarfs, tall and small, picking up flowers, etc. Again these movements should be large and free.

(4) Balance.—It is not too soon to begin teaching simple balance movements at this age. They must also be of the informal kind. They include standing on one foot holding the other; hopping on one foot; standing on tip-toe, running on toes flying like birds and then coming to rest on the branch of a tree; walking on toes along a line, etc.

(5) Games.—At this age games in which children can take part individually are the best. There are numerous circle games and group games. Those of the chasing variety are best—"Fire on the mountains," "Fox and geese," "Soldiers and brigands," etc. In these games there is an element of suspense which children find particularly attractive. Free play with balls may be started in the kindergarten but must not take the place of games proper. Relay races and team games, games of physical skill and strength have no place at this period.

Action songs and singing games are particularly useful in Class I. For the physical activity lesson, however, only those which have lively activity and large movements should be used. It must be kept in mind that the song and the words are subsidiary to the action which should be performed in a lively energetic manner.

Apparatus required.—Chalk, ropes, large ball—two or three for the class, small balls—one for each child, bean bags, hoops, coloured bands.

The lesson.—This should consist of—

(1) An introductory period of running, skipping, etc.

(2) Trunk exercises.

(3) Balance exercises.

(4) Jumping exercises.

(5) Games—two or three games should be played. These may be chosen from the games group entirely or one action song or singing game may be used as one of the activities.

(6) Final—quiet walking around the room before going to class-work.

CLASS II.

The transition from Class I to Class II is so slight that it is almost impossible to state any definite change in the exercises. The programme must continue to be characterised by great activity and imagination should still be used.

More formality should be introduced and children should begin to be taught line formations. In the early stages of Class II the lessons should be very similar to those of Class I, but gradually new forms of exercise should be introduced calling for more control and precision. Whereas in previous lessons movements were mostly of the free type, now they can be done with counting. Care however must be taken to see that with the introduction of counting, exercises do not become slow and methodical.

A greater range of exercises will be taught at this age, arriving at more localised movement.

The syllabus for Class II should be based on the following:—

(1) Walking.—The foundations of an upright carriage, the correct use of legs and feet should be taught. At first walking should be free and to the children's own rhythm. Later line formations may be used and a class rhythm attempted. There should be no effort yet to insist on right and left feet being used at the same time. Only a short period should be given to this as it is less important. The use of clapping and stamping to teach rhythm should be started. If these methods are used, however, clapping and stamping should be continuous, not on alternative beats or one in four, etc. This interrupts the range of movement.

(2) Running.—As in the previous class but with more spring and agility. Running following the leader; running into circles, mazes, etc.

(3) Jumping and leaping.—A continuation of previous work, attempting lighter landings and more control. There will be fewer imaginative jumps. Rhythm can now be introduced into jumping, e.g., four jumps forward and four backward in rhythm.

(4) Head exercises.—These are used to increase the flexibility of the neck muscles and of the cervical spine. They will assist in the development of good posture. Head turning, nodding, bending and rolling in all directions should be used. At first these exercises should be in the form of play, e.g., head bending from side to side like a ticking clock; head rolling like a ball; head bobbing like a wood-pecker, etc. The use of imaginative exercises in the early stages is more useful for obtaining mobility and range of movement.

(5) Trunk exercises.—In addition to those of the previous class, more flexible movements should be introduced, e.g., trunk bending forward and downward, grasping the ankle with both hands, and pressing the head with little bobbing movements against the knee. This can be done in standing or sitting positions. After the forward and downward bending, children must be encouraged to return to an erect position.

(6) Arm exercises.—The introduction of arm exercises is for the purpose of producing mobility and range of movement in the shoulder joint, to strengthen the muscles of the forearm and the shoulder girdle. For Class II arm swinging and circling should be used, e.g., swinging forward and backwards; upwards and downwards; clapping overhead and behind back; tapping the thighs lightly and arm raising to "yard" or "fly."

(7) Balance exercise.—An attempt should be made to increase the difficulty of the balance exercises of the previous class by having positions held for a longer period and by combining two or more of the balances used in the previous year. Balance exercise will progress slowly. Still use imaginative exercises gradually introducing others.

(8) Lateral exercises.—Lessons should now be designed to include those exercises which will help to develop the muscles of the lateral trunk to improve the flexibility of the spine laterally and to stimulate the circulation to and the function of the liver and viscera. In Class II these exercises should be of the most simple sideways bending and sideways turning variety. In this group also, imagination must be used, e.g., a cat chasing its tail, shooting bows and arrows; turning to the left and right pointing as far back as possible; kneeling and touching the floor three times to the right and left, etc.

(9) Class activity or group practice.—Whereas in Class I the whole lesson was one of great activity and of individualism, now with the introduction of slight formality the class should begin to learn to work together. During the activity and group practice period, children should learn to handle small balls, to practise jumping and leaping in groups, e.g., over low ropes or forms, over a swinging rope, forward and backward rolls and easy stunts.

(10) Games.—The games for Class II are very similar to those for Class I including singing games and action songs.

Lesson plan.—

(1) Introduction—walking, running, rhythmic jumping, skipping, etc.
(2) Head and neck.
(3) Trunk forward and downward bending.
(4) Arm-swinging, circling, etc.
(5) Balance.
(6) Lateral.
(7) Class activity and group practice.
(8) Games.

Apparatus required.—

Large and small balls.
Bean bags.
Ropes.
Hoops.
Coloured bands.

CLASSES III AND IV.

The same general underlying principles as used for Classes I and II will be employed for Classes III and IV. Less imagination and more precision will be attempted. The lesson must still be one of much activity. Exercises should be stronger and a definite attempt be made to produce form. This can be achieved particularly in stressing control in jumping and balancing, by making the children more conscious of movement, its range and its uses.

(1) Marching.—Correct marching, all using the left foot at the same time, should now be attempted. Very little time, however, should be put on this exercise.

(2) Running and jumping.—Combinations of runs and skips; gallop style forward and sideways; about running, maze running, rhythm jumps, e.g., astride jumping, bob jumping, sky jumping, etc.

(3) Head exercises.—Bending, turning, nodding, bobbing, upward stretching, done in cross sit, kneeling and standing positions.

(4) Trunk exercises.—Forward and downward bends, introducing easy auxiliary arm movement, e.g., long stride sit, tap the floor twice and forward and downward bends to touch the toes; stand, tap the thighs, knees and touch the toes, etc.

(5) Arm exercises.—In addition to the swinging and circling movements used in the previous classes, there should now be added arm bending and stretching movements. At first these should be done with a single arm and in one direction only. Gradually use two arms, combine directions and combine bending and stretching with swinging and circling. This progression must not be rushed.

(6). Balance.—Increase the difficulty of balance exercises, e.g., heels raise, knees full bend, hold the position and clap overhead three times, knees stretch, heels lower; arms and leg forward raise, sideways swing, position, wing stand, leg swinging forwards and backwards, etc.

(7) Abdominal.—These are introduced to strengthen the muscles of the abdominal wall, to improve the circulation to aid the function of the internal organs of designation and elimination. These exercises include lying on the back and bicycling; bunny jumps on the spot; alternate leg lifting knee upward bending grasping it with both hands and pulling it to the chest; back lying coming to a sitting position, etc.

(8) Lateral.—Trunk turning and bending sideways with the addition of arm movements. Good positions should be achieved in lateral exercises at this age.

(9) Class activity and group practice.—A continuation of the previous work introducing skipping of various kinds, jumping over benches, on to benches, off benches, the practice of controlling landings in jumps, the better handling of balls of all sizes, fundamental practices of throwing, catching, dodging, etc.

Games.—At this stage there should be an introduction of single relay races and team games. The group spirit should be developed and the individualistic element lessened.

The lesson plan followed is the same as that used for Classes I and II with the addition of an abdominal exercise after the balance group.

Apparatus required.—

Large and small balls.

Skipping ropes.

Bean bags.

Benches.

Coloured bands.

Provided that should the outgoing Chairman be himself a candidate for election, the meeting shall be presided over by the Vice-Chairman if he is not also a candidate for election:

Provided further that if there is no Chairman, and the Vice-Chairman is a candidate for election, and also, if the Chairman and Vice-Chairman be both candidates for election, the meeting shall be presided over by a member of the local board other than the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, who shall be elected by the members of the board for the purpose of conducting the election of the Chairman. The President in such case must be duly proposed and seconded and must not be a candidate for the office of Chairman.

20. If only one member is proposed and seconded as President, he shall be deemed to be duly elected as such. If more than one member is proposed and seconded, the members present shall decide the election by vote. The votes may be taken by voices or by show of hands.

21. If the votes for two or more members proposed as President of the meeting are equal, then the selection of one of them shall be decided by lot.

22. The election of the Chairman of the local board shall proceed as follows:—

(a) Any member present may propose a candidate either by name or by virtue of his office for the office of Chairman.

(b) No candidature shall be taken into consideration unless it has been seconded by a member other than the proposer.

(c) If one duly nominated candidate duly stands for election, the President shall forthwith declare such candidate to be elected.

(d) If there be more than one candidate for election as Chairman, the President shall hand to each member present a voting paper in the form appended to these rules, in which the names of the candidates who have been duly proposed and seconded have been entered, and shall ask each member to record his vote by placing the mark × in the place provided for the purpose in the voting paper, opposite the name of the candidate whom the member prefers, and to sign his name on the back of the counterfoil of the voting paper.

(f) Each member after placing the mark × on the voting paper shall fold the counterfoil so as to conceal the votes recorded, sign his name on the back of the counterfoil and then hand the paper to the President. Without such folding of the counterfoil or signature the voting paper shall be invalid.

(g) The President shall have the right of participating in the election of the Chairman and shall similarly record his vote.

(h) The President, as soon as all the voting papers have been delivered to him, shall, in the order hereinafter specified—

(1) reject any voting paper which is unsigned or of which the counterfoil is not properly folded;

(2) tear off the counterfoils containing the signatures and place them apart from the papers proper;

(3) reject any voting paper which is irregularly marked;

(4) read out the names of the candidates against which the mark × has been validly made;

(5) count the votes; and

(6) declare the candidate to whom the largest number of votes has been given to be elected as Chairman of the local board.

(i) In the case of an equality of votes the President shall have a casting vote.

23. At the same meeting the board shall then proceed to elect one of their number as Vice-Chairman. The election of the Vice-Chairman shall be made in the same manner as that of the Chairman.

24. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Rules of Business adopted by any board, it shall be sufficient at the election of a Chairman and a Vice-Chairman where more than one candidate is proposed and seconded for each, to record in the proceedings the names of the persons proposing and seconding, and the number of persons voting for each candidate and the name of the candidate duly elected.

25. A quorum for the purpose of these rules shall consist of half the members of the local board.

26. Immediately after the election of the Vice-Chairman the President shall report the result of the election to the Divisional Commissioner for confirmation.

27. In case the Commissioner does not approve of a person elected as Chairman under section 25 of the Act, the Comissioner may direct that, within a period prescribed by him in that behalf, another person be elected Chairman by the members of such board from among their own number, subject to the approval of the Commissioner. In that case, the election shall be held at a special meeting convened by the Deputy Commissioner and in the manner laid down in rules 19 to 22.

(ii) District board.

28. Within one month from the date on which the names of the elected members and the names or official designation of the appointed members of the district board shall have been published in the Calcutta Gazette a special meeting of the board, at which there shall be a quorum, shall be convened by the Deputy Commissioner for the election of a Vice-Chairman.

29. Whenever a meeting is held for the purpose of electing a Vice-Chairman it shall be presided over by the Chairman appointed by Government or in his absence by a member elected for the purpose by the members present.

30. The election of a Vice-Chairman of the district board shall be made in accordance with the procedure laid down in rules 22 to 26 for the election of Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the local boards. If the members of the district board fail to elect a Vice-Chairman within the prescribed time the Local Government shall appoint the Vice-Chairman.

(iii) Union Committee.

31. (1) When the names of the appointed members of a union committee have been notified in the Calcutta Gazette, the Deputy Comissioner shall, within a week, send copies of the notification to the Circle Officer or the President Panchayet of the chaukidari union, or such other person as the Deputy Commissioner may select, with an order directing him to convene a meeting of the members of the committee named in the notification for the purpose of electing a Chairman from among them.

(2) At such meeting one-half of the number of members shall be necessary to form a quorum, and there shall be no election of a Chairman unless a quorum is present.

(3) If the members fail to elect a Chairman within one month of the receipt of the Deputy Commissioner's order, the fact shall be reported to the district board who shall then, under section 41A of the Act, appoint one of the members of the union committee to be the Chairman.

Provided that where the Deputy Commissioner has for any reason failed to take action within the prescribed time under sub-rule (1) the Local Government may nevertheless extend the period of one week to such time as they may think proper and such time shall be deemed to be the period prescribed under sub-rule (1).

The Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are (1) that widowed daughters incapable of re-marriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominee predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the Fund has been completed by the Actuary to the Government of India, and his report discloses very favourable results. PART VI

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly, and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 10th February, 1937:—

L. A. BILL NO. 9 OF 1937.

A Bill further to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— VIII of 1923.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Workmen's Compensation (Amendment) Act, 1937.

Amendment of section 35, Act VIII of 1923.

2. (1) Section 35 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section and in the said section as so re-numbered— VIII of 1923.

(a) for the words "paid to" the words "deposited with" shall be substituted;

(b) for the words "for the benefit of", where they occur for the first time, the words "which has been awarded to or may be due to" shall be substituted;

(c) after the word "receipt" the word ", distribution" shall be inserted;

(d) for the word "awarded" the word "deposited" shall be substituted; and

(e) for the words "and applicable for the benefit of" the words "which has been awarded to or may be due to" shall be substituted.

(2) To the said section as so re-numbered the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that no sum deposited under this Act in respect of fatal accidents shall be so transferred without the consent of the employer concerned until the Commissioner receiving the sum has passed orders determining its distribution and apportionment under the provisions of sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 8."

(3) After the said section as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(2) Where money deposited with a Commissioner has been so transferred in accordance with the rules made under this section, the provisions elsewhere contained in this Act regarding distribution by the Commissioner of compensation deposited with him shall cease to apply in respect of any such money."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 35 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), enables rules to be made for the transfer of sums paid to Commissioners in India as compensation for the benefit of persons abroad or paid to authorities abroad as compensation for persons in India. But it does not provide for the transfer of distribution proceedings when the employer does not object and the dependents are in another country than the one in which the compensation is deposited. The amendment is designed to make this possible, and is required, in the first instance, to provide for transfers between Burma and India after separation. At present, distribution proceedings can be transferred from Burma to provinces in India and vice versa under section 21 (2) of the Act; but this will cease to be applicable when Burma becomes a separate country.

F. NOYCE.

NEW DELHI;

The 5th February, 1937.

NOTE.

Section 35 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, is as follows:—

"35. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, make rules for the transfer to any part of His Majesty's Dominions or to any other country of money paid to a Commissioner under this Act for the benefit of any person residing or about to reside in such part or country and for the receipt and administration in British India of any money awarded under the law relating to workmen's compensation in any part of His Majesty's Dominions or in any other country, and applicable for the benefit of any person residing or about to reside in British India."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government of India have had under consideration the question of continuance of the Indian Tea Cess Act, 1903 (IX of 1903), in Burma on the separation of that country from India. It is felt that in view of the small income likely to result from any duty imposed on the comparatively unimportant tea exports from Burma and the fact that Burma is not represented on the Indian Tea Market Expansion Board, which administers the funds accruing from the duty imposed under the Act, continued application of the Act to Burma after separation is not only unnecessary but is likely to lead to considerable friction over the distribution of the Board's efforts as between India and Burma's teas.

It has accordingly been decided, in consultation with the tea industry in India and the Government of Burma, to exclude Burma from the operation of the Act. As under section 148 of the Government of Burma Act, 1935, all laws in force in Burma immediately before separation will continue in force there until altered or repealed or amended, it is necessary that the Indian Tea Cess Act should be amended before April 1, 1937, so as to exclude Burma from its scope.

The present Bill incorporates the amending legislation.

No. 2255J.—18th March 1937.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 112A of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909 (III of 1909), as amended by the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Bengal Amendment) Act, 1936 (Bengal Act XVIII of 1936), and in supersession of all existing rules on the subject, the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rules for the proper performance of the administrative functions of the Official Assignee of Calcutta:—

1. The Official Assignee shall maintain a personal deposit account with the Reserve Bank of India entitled "The Account of the Official Assignee of Calcutta," and shall pass all moneys received by him in the administration of debtors' estates to the credit of the said account on the day of receipt, if possible, and in any case not later than on the morning of the next following day on which Bank is open.

2. The Official Assignee shall deposit with the Reserve Bank of India all securities or investments received by him in the administration of debtors' estates.

3. All moneys received by the Official Assignee in the administration of debtors' estates and in his hands or under his control at the date of the commencement of the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Bengal Amendment) Act, 1936, shall be deposited by the Official Assignee in the Reserve Bank of India to the credit of his personal deposit account on such date as the Local Government may fix.

4. All securities or investments received by the Official Assignee in the administration of debtors' estates and in his hands or under his control at the date of the commencement of the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Bengal Amendment) Act, 1936, shall be deposited by the Official Assignee in the Reserve Bank of India on such date as the Local Government may fix.

5. All moneys, securities or investments in the hands or under the control of the Official Assignee at the date of the commencement of the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Bengal Amendment) Act, 1936, representing the proceeds of investments of the assets of insolvent estates made prior to the date of the commencement of the said Act, shall, on such date as the Local Government may fix, be transferred by the Official Assignee to the Reserve Bank of India for credit to Provincial Revenues. Details of moneys, securities or investments so credited shall be furnished by the Official Assignee to the Local Government.

6. The Official Assignee shall ensure that the cash balance in his personal deposit account does not fall below a sum of Rs. 1½ lakhs.

7. When in the opinion of the Official Assignee the cash balance standing to the credit of his personal deposit account is in excess of the amount required for the time being to meet demands in respect of insolvent estates, or to make any payments prescribed by the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, or by the rules framed thereunder, he shall request the Reserve Bank of India to invest such excess in the purchase of Government promissory notes, bonds or treasury bills in his name. Such notes, bonds or bills shall be kept in safe custody by the Bank.

Provided that moneys received by the Official Assignee as interim receiver or as trustee under a composition scheme shall not be invested.

8. The interests, dividends and proceeds of the investments referred to in the preceding rule shall be collected by the Reserve Bank of India, which shall, at the end of every half year, credit the same to the "Account of the Official Assignee of Calcutta," and shall intimate to the Official Assignee the details and total of the sum credited; and the Official Assignee shall forthwith withdraw from his personal deposit account and credit to Provincial Revenues all such interests, dividends and proceeds of investments.

Provided that the interests, dividends and proceeds of investments on account of insolvent estates, the assets of which have been directed by a Committee of Inspection to be invested pending further realisation and pending the declaration of dividends, shall stand credited to the accounts of those estates, and shall not be transferred to Provincial Revenues.

9. When in the opinion of the Official Assignee, the cash balance standing to the credit of his personal deposit account is insufficient to meet the requirements of insolvent estates, or to make any payments prescribed by the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, he shall, in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India, arrange to realise such an amount of the securities or investments deposited with the Reserve Bank as may, in his opinion, be sufficient to provide the funds required.

10. The Official Assignee shall half-yearly submit to the Local Government for necessary action a statement of all securities or investments realised under the provisions of the preceding rule, showing details of the realised profit or actual loss resulting from such transactions.

11. For the purpose of meeting the costs and liabilities referred to in sections 82A and 82B of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, the Official Assignee shall, in the first instance, utilise the funds available in his personal deposit account, and shall thereafter apply to the Local Government, for recoupment in respect of such expenditure to the extent of the Local Government's liability as prescribed by sections 82A and 82B.

12. Subject to the rule next following the Official Assignee shall withdraw from his personal deposit account and shall pay into the Reserve Bank of India for credit to Provincial Revenues all sums realised under the provisions of section 82C of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909.

13. The Official Assignee shall charge a percentage at the rate of 5 per cent. on the value of the realised assets of each insolvent estate, and a percentage at the rate of 1 per cent. on the value of assets taken charge of or realised by him as interim receiver. All fees, percentages, commissions and remunerations leviable by the Official Assignee under the said Act and these rules shall constitute a first charge upon the assets of every insolvent estate, and the Official Assignee shall every half year transfer such amounts from his personal deposit account to the credit of Provincial Revenues.

Provided that in no case shall a total percentage of more than 5 per cent. be charged upon any assets of any insolvent estate.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule, the amount to be paid in pursuance of a composition or scheme of arrangement, and also any amount realised under the Second Schedule to the Act, shall be deemed to be assets collected by the Official Assignee.

14. The Official Assignee shall maintain registers showing the dates of lapse under section 122 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, of all dividends unclaimed for 15 years or for such less period as may be prescribed; and shall at the end of every half year, unless the Court otherwise directs, credit to Provincial Revenues all such lapsed unclaimed dividends, and shall furnish to the Accountant-General, Bengal, a detailed list of such credits.

15. For the purpose of paying dividends to creditors, or of making any other payments prescribed by the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, or the rules framed thereunder, the Official Assignee shall issue cheques drawn upon his personal deposit account in respect of all amounts in excess of Rs. 50.

16. The Official Assignee shall, in the manner to be prescribed by the Local Government, keep accounts of the property, debts and credits of every insolvent, and of all moneys received and payments made by him. Scheduled creditors shall be at liberty to inspect the accounts of insolvent estates at all reasonable times.

17. The Official Assignee shall, at the end of every six months, submit to the Local Government a statement of accounts of each estate not then wound up and fully distributed. This statement shall show the total receipts, the total disbursements (distinguishing dividends from other payments), the balance in hand, and the manner in which any portion of this balance is invested.

18. The accounts of the Official Assignee, and also the statement of accounts referred to in the preceding rule, shall be audited half-yearly, up to the 31st day of January and the 31st day of July, by such auditors, at such time and place, and in such manner as the Local Government shall direct; and a report of each audit shall be furnished to the Official Assignee and to the Local Government.

19. On completion of each audit, the audited statement of accounts referred to in rule 17 shall be signed by the auditor and by the Official Assignee, and shall be published forthwith in the Calcutta Gazette.

20. The Official Assignee shall on appointment enter into a bond with sufficient sureties to the Local Government in the sum of Rs. 1,00,000 conditioned for the clear execution of his office.

(iv) his age is less than 25 years on the 1st August of the year in which the examination is advertised to be held: provided that if he is already a temporary typist in the Secretariat, he shall be eligible if his age on that date does not exceed 25 years by more than the length of his temporary service.

(c) All vacancies for typists, permanent or temporary, shall be reported to the Finance Department as they occur.

(d) Permanent posts of typists shall, subject to the provisions of section 56D, be filled by the appointment, in order of merit, of candidates who have passed the recruitment examination. Temporary posts shall be filled by the appointment of candidates who have passed the recruitment examination but are not sufficiently high in order of merit to obtain permanent posts.

(e) A fresh examination shall not ordinarily be held until the list of candidates who have passed the previous recruitment examination is exhausted, or until three years have elapsed since the previous examination, whichever is earlier. The Finance Department may, however, if it considers it expedient to do so, decide that a fresh examination shall be held at any earlier date.

56A. The recruitment of stenographers is regulated by the following instructions:—

(a) An examination will be held from time to time for the purpose of preparing a list of candidates eligible for appointment as stenographers.

(b) In the case of a person not in the permanent service of Government, the qualifications for admission to the examination shall be as follows:—

(i) He must have passed at least the Matriculation Examination of an Indian University, the High Madrasah Examination or the High School Examination of the Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education, Dacca, the School Final Examination (Science Side) or the Government Commercial Course Final Examination, or have obtained the Indian Army Special Certificate of Education, or if a European or Anglo-Indian not so qualified, have obtained at least the Elementary School Certificate and taken the Supplementary Commercial Course prescribed by the European Schools Code.

(ii) He must be able to produce evidence that he possesses a good knowledge of English.

(iii) He must be able to produce a certificate from the Government Commercial Institute or an Institution affiliated thereto, that he has attained a shorthand speed of at least 120 words to the minute and can transcribe accurately on the typewriter at not less than 40 words to the minute.

(iv) He must be less than 25 years of age on the 1st August of the year in which the examination is advertised to be held.

Evidence that the candidate possesses the above qualifications must accompany the application. As evidence of age, candidates must produce a Matriculation Certificate, or failing this, equally satisfactory documentary proof. All certificates must be sent in original. The candidate must also pay into the treasury nearest his place of residence, a sum of Rs. 10 by way of examination fee, and must forward the treasury receipt with his application. Under no circumstances will this sum be refunded.

(c) A person already in the permanent service of the Local Government will be allowed to sit for the examination provided he applies for permission through the Head of his Office and provided the Head of his Office certifies that in his opinion, the candidate has, by attending evening classes or otherwise, fitted himself for a post of stenographer. In the case of such a person there will be no age-limit and no examination fee will be required.

(d) On the results of the examination a list shall be prepared showing, in order of merit, those candidates who are deemed to have proved themselves fit for appointment as stenographers in the Secretariat.

(e) Officiating or temporary vacancies in posts of stenographers in the Secretariat will be filled, as they occur, by the appointment of candidates from this list. Employment will be offered to candidates strictly in the order of merit in which they appear in the list: provided—

(i) that every alternate vacancy shall, so long as any typist in the permanent employment of Government appear in the list, be filled by one of them;

(ii) that one in every two of the vacancies not filled by typists shall go to a Muhammadan so long as any such appear in the list. This rule, however, should not be interpreted to exclude from any vacancy a permanent typist or a Muhammadan who stands highest among those candidates on the list who have not been given appointments. Government may, at their discretion, reject any candidate whom they consider unsuitable for service under Government.

(f) A fresh examination will ordinarily not be held until the list of candidates of the previous examination prepared under clause (c) has been exhausted or until three years have elapsed since the date of the previous examination, whichever is earlier. The Finance Department may, however, if it considers it expedient to do so, decide that a fresh examination should be held at any earlier date.

56B. (1) The Legislative Council Department will hold an annual proficiency examination, which must be attended by all permanent or acting Council Reporters and all permanent stenographers in the Secretariat and may be attended by all persons who have been employed during the year in officiating or temporary vacancies in posts of stenographers in the Secretariat.

(2) This annual examination will be organised in two parts, namely:—

(i) Dictation at a minimum rate of 140 words per minute.
(ii) Dictation at a minimum rate of 120 words per minute.

Each test will comprise two periods of dictation each of seven minutes' duration, followed by one hour's transcription of notes, and separated by an interval of at least half an hour for rest. One period will consist of dictation at approximately the minimum speed, the other of dictation at speeds varying from the minimum to a pre-determined maximum. The two tests will ordinarily be held on separate days.

(3) This annual proficiency examination will be utilised for determining whether Council Reporters and stenographers have attained or maintained the various standards of efficiency prescribed in sections 52 and 54. All Council Reporters, those stenographers wishing to establish the attainment of the standard required for appointment as Council Reporters and stenographers in Class A of the old or who have passed the efficiency bar after the 16th stage in the revised scale, must appear at test (i). All other persons who are required or permitted to present themselves for the examination must enter for test (ii) and may enter for test (i).

(4) This examination will also be utilised for selecting stenographers to be appointed in a permanent or acting capacity in posts of Council Reporters or to be promoted in a permanent or acting capacity from a post of Junior Council Reporter to one of Senior Council Reporter in the old scale. Such permanent or acting appointments and promotions will be given to those Council Reporters or stenographers who have attained at the annual examinations the standards of proficiency prescribed in section 54. As among those who prove the attainment of the standards, appointments will be given in strict order of merit as decided at the annual examinations but in arriving at such order of merit, the average results in the examinations of the preceding three years should be taken into account.

56C. Permanent vacancies in posts of stenographers in the Secretariat shall be filled by the appointment of persons who have been passed as eligible for appointment as stenographers at the recruitment examination prescribed in section 56A and have been employed in officiating or temporary vacancies in posts of stenographers in the Secretariat. Appointments will be made in strict order of merit as decided at the annual proficiency examinations prescribed in section 56B, the average results in the examinations of the preceding three years being taken into account: provided that (i) every alternate vacancy shall be given to a permanent typist, and

(ii) one in every two of the vacancies not filled by permanent typists shall be given to a Muhammadan, so long as there are any permanent typist or Muhammadans who have passed the recruitment examination prescribed in section 56A, acting as temporary stenographers. As between two or more persons, the appointment will be given to the persons standing highest according to the results of the annual proficiency examinations, taking the average results in the examinations of the preceding three years into account. This rule should not be interpreted to exclude from any permanent vacancy in a post of stenographer, a permanent typist or a Muhammadan who, taking the average results in the proficiency examinations of the preceding three years into account stands first of the temporary stenographers not already provided with permanent posts.

If there is no temporary stenographer available, the first available person in order of merit, subject to the provisions of rule 56A(e), in the list of candidates passed as eligible for appointment as stenographers at the last recruitment examination, may be appointed permanently to a vacant post of stenographer.

56D. (i) Every third appointment of typist in each office shall ordinarily be given to a Muhammadan who has passed the recruitment examination prescribed in section 56.

(ii) Until the proportion of Muhammadan typists in the various offices reaches one-third, the claims of qualified Muhammadan candidates shall be considered in filling up all vacancies.

(iii) The claims of members of the minority communities and backward classes who have passed the recruitment examination prescribed in section 56, shall also be considered in filling vacancies in posts of typists".

The Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are (1) that widowed daughters incapable of re-marriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominee predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the Fund has been completed by the Actuary to the Government of India, and his report discloses very favourable results. For forms of application and rules of the Fund apply to the Accountant-General, Bengal, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

PART VI

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly, and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill* was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 1st February, 1937:—

L. A. BILL No. 6 OF 1937.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XI of 1922.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1937.

Amendment of section 16, Act XI of 1922.

2. To section 16 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following sub-section shall be added, namely:— XI of 1922.

"(3) In computing the total income of any individual for the purpose of assessment, there shall be included—

(a) so much of the income of a wife or minor child of such individual as arises—

(i) from the membership of the wife in a firm of which her husband is a partner;

(ii) from the admission of the minor to the benefits of partnership in a firm of which such individual is a partner;

*The Governor General has been pleased to accord the sanction required by section 67 (2) of the Government of India Act.

(iii) from assets transferred directly or indirectly to the wife by the husband otherwise than for adequate consideration or in connection with an agreement to live apart; or

(iv) from assets transferred directly or indirectly to the minor child, not being a married daughter, by such individual:

and

(b) so much of the income of any association of individuals consisting of such individual and his wife as arises from assets transferred to the association by such individual."

Amendment of section 18, Act XI of 1922.

3. To sub-section (5) of section 18 of the said Act the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided further that where such person or owner is a person whose income is included under the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 16 in the total income of another person that person shall be deemed to be the person or owner on whose behalf payment has been made and to whom credit shall be given in the assessment for the following year."

Amendment of section 48, Act XI of 1922.

4. After sub-section (3) of section 48 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

"(3A) Where the shareholder referred to in sub-section (1), or the member of a registered firm or the minor admitted to the benefits of partnership referred to in sub-section (2), or the owner of a security referred to in sub-section (3) is a person whose income is included under the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 16 in the total income of another person, the provisions of sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) shall apply as if that person were himself the person entitled to a refund under those sub-sections."

Operation of section 2.

5. The amendment made in the said Act by section 2 shall not have effect in respect of any income chargeable to income-tax for any year ending before the 1st day of April, 1937.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Reference is made in sections 1 and 4 of Chapter III of the Income Tax Enquiry Report, 1936, to the practices of avoiding taxation by means of nominal partnerships between husband and wife or parent and minor child or by the nominal transfer of assets to a wife or minor child (or to an "association" consisting of husband and wife) when there is no substantial separation of the interests of the assessee and the wife or child. These practices are reported to have become very widespread already, with considerable detriment to the revenue, and there is little doubt that if they are not checked there will be progressive deterioration. The proposals in the Report regarding the aggregation of the incomes of husband and wife go beyond the immediate necessities of the case and to that extent their adoption would involve the admission of a new principle which the Government of India do not desire to establish in advance of the general public discussion of the Report which has been arranged; and the present Bill has been so drafted as to deal only with the abuses to which I have referred.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill* was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 8th February, 1937:—

L. A. BILL No. 7 OF 1937.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Naval Armament Act, 1923, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Naval Armament Act, 1923, for the purpose of giving effect in British India to the Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament and for the Exchange of Information concerning Naval Construction signed in London on behalf of His Majesty on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1936; It is hereby enacted as follows:— VII of 1923.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Naval Armament (Amendment) Act, 1937.

Amendment of preamble to Act VII of 1923.

2. In the preamble to the Indian Naval Armament Act, 1923 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), for the words beginning "Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament signed at Washington" and ending "signed at London on behalf of His Majesty on the twenty-second day of April, 1930" the following shall be substituted, namely:— VII of 1923.

"Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament and for the Exchange of Information concerning Naval Construction signed in London on behalf of His Majesty on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1936".

Amendment of section 2, Act VII of 1923.

3. In section 2 of the said Act, for clause (c) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(c) 'the Treaty' means the Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament and for the Exchange of Information concerning Naval Construction signed in London on behalf of His Majesty on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1936."

Amendment of section 4, Act VII of 1923.

4. To section 4 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(3) Any person who, in pursuance of a licence granted under sub-section (1) before the commencement of the Indian Naval Armament (Amendment) Act, 1937, is engaged in building .. of 1937. any vessel of war or in altering, arming or equipping any ship so as to adapt her for use as a vessel of war, or is about to despatch or deliver, or allow to be despatched or delivered, from any place within British India any ship which has been so built, altered, armed or equipped, either entirely or partly, within British India, shall, upon written demand, furnish to the Local Government such designs and particulars as may be required by the Local Government for the purpose of securing the observance of the obligations imposed by the Treaty."

Amendment of section 5, Act VII of 1923.

5. In sub-section (1) of section 5 of the said Act, after the word and figure "section 3" the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"or fails to comply with the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 4".

Omission of the Schedule to Act VII of 1923.

6. The Schedule to the said Act shall be omitted.

*The Governor General has been pleased to accord the sanction required by section 67 (2) of the Government of India Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Indian Naval Armament Act, 1923 (VII of 1923), as amended by Act VIII of 1931, was passed by the Indian Legislature to give effect in British India to the Treaties for the Limitation of Naval Armaments signed on behalf of His Majesty in 1922 and 1930. These Treaties—except for Part IV of the latter—expired on the 31st December 1936, and Act VII of 1923 will consequently cease to have effect unless it is so amended as to substitute reference to the Treaty signed on behalf of the British Commonwealth of Nations and certain other Powers on the 25th March 1936, for the references to the Treaties of 1922 and 1930. The chief characteristics of the Treaty which came into force on the 1st January 1937, and which will remain operative until the 31st December 1942, are limitation in the tonnage of ships and in the calibre of guns and certain new provisions regarding the exchange of information concerning naval construction between the High Contracting Parties. It also keeps alive the principle which has prevailed for the last fifteen years that the naval armaments of the principal Maritime Powers are to be restricted by agreement and makes it possible for the reduction of naval armaments to be further extended when international conditions are more settled than they were when the Treaty was contracted.

The Government of India have agreed to ratify the new Treaty of 1936 and, to give effect to it, they propose to amend the Indian Naval Armament Act (VII of 1923) on the lines of the amendment recently made in the corresponding English Act.
